Dear SAR Nominations Committee

AIA involvement has been an important part of my development as an aspiring architect during the transition from school to practice. In school it was the involvement with AIAS events and working with professionals as a student ambassador that I learned the importance of building professional relationships. When I first came to Atlanta I found my place first in fellowship with YAF and the emerging professionals. After organizing the 10up/emerging voices reception I felt I could make a bigger impact by joining the AIA board. It was after attending the SAR conference this past fall I was able to meet with and get to understand the impacts of the RAD and YARD to the region. I would love the opportunity to work with local emerging professional leadership and with AIA national to be a voice for all the regional associates.

I feel my experience working with AIA Atlanta board of directors and the emerging professionals committee puts me in a unique position to communicate associates needs and concerns. Being involved with AIA has always been a priority and passion of mine and to act as a liaison through the region would be an honor.

Sincerely,

Autumn Brasher

Attention: SAR Nominations Committee

I fully support Autumn in her nomination for position for RAD. Over our years of working together both with AIA Atlanta and through Gensler, she is a very capable, engaging and perfect person to fill this position. We would be lucky to have her fill this role.

Thank you,

Ryan Cavanaugh, AIA, RDI, LEED AP
